“Power to Live a Kingdom Lifestyle!”

This is Pentecost Sunday where we celebrate the birth of the Church. It is a great day to get involved in the life of the Kingdom. Pentecost Sunday reminds us that there is supernatural power available to us in order to accomplish super things in the natural.

The promise of the Holy Spirit was made by Jesus to his disciples who would need that power to carry out the mission of making disciples and ushering in a new way of life. This power is Divine. It comes from Divinity. It inhabits Dust. It is Demanding. It helps us in Discipleship. It is Demonstrative. It is like Dynamite. It cannot be contained but must be Discharged and Disseminated. With this Divine power we really have something and therefore there are really no legitimate excuses for us to use as to why we are not living the kingdom lifestyle. Here's why.

We have the power to change our lives. We have the power to make a difference. We have the power to call things into existence. We have the power to bind and loose things on earth. We have the power to create a new world. We have the power to end gun violence. We have the power to heal our world. We have the power to reconcile families together. We have the power to bring joy, love, peace, and prosperity to our world. We have the power to change hearts of stone into hearts of flesh. We have the power to bring peace to stormy situations. We have the power to persevere, hang on in there, and be victorious in life no matter what we are going through that we are ultimately growing through.

The Rev. Roland Rolheiser wrote an article called the “Ten Commandments for the Long Haul”--- Ten Commandments for facing life over a long period. Here they are:

1. Be grateful: Never look a gift universe in the mouth.
2. Don't be naïve about God. He will not settle for less than everything.
3. Walk forward when possible. When it feels impossible, try putting one foot in front of the other.
4. Pray that God will hang onto you.
5. Love. Put love first in your life. If a life is large enough for love, it is large enough.
6. Accept what you are ---and don't be afraid to be who you are.
7. Refuse to take yourself too seriously; laugh at yourself regularly.
8. Don't be afraid to be softhearted. Redemption lies in tears.
9. Stay with the folks. Remember—you are on a group outing.
10. Don't mummify. Stay alive and alert, and celebrate life.

Because you are filled with the Holy Ghost you can live these Ten Commandments and live the kingdom life. Be blessed!

Morning Scripture

Acts 2:1-13 (NKJV)

<sup>1</sup> When the Day of Pentecost had fully come, they were all with one accord in one place.

<sup>2</sup> And suddenly there came a sound from heaven, as of a rushing mighty wind, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting.

<sup>3</sup> Then there appeared to them divided tongues, as of fire, and one sat upon each of them.

<sup>4</sup> And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

<sup>5</sup> And there were dwelling in Jerusalem Jews, devout men, from every nation under heaven.

<sup>6</sup> And when this sound occurred, the multitude came together, and were confused, because everyone heard them speak in his own language.

<sup>7</sup> Then they were all amazed and marveled, saying to one another, “Look, are not all these who speak Galileans?”

<sup>8</sup> And how is it that we hear, each in our own language in which we were born?

<sup>9</sup> Parthians and Medes and Elamites, those dwelling in Mesopotamia, Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,

<sup>10</sup> Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya adjoining Cyrene, visitors from Rome, both Jews and proselytes,

<sup>11</sup> Cretans and Arabs—we hear them speaking in our own tongues the wonderful works of God.”

<sup>12</sup> So they were all amazed and perplexed, saying to one another, “Whatever could this mean?”

<sup>13</sup> Others mocking said, “They are full of new wine.”

Psalm of Praise

Psalm 104:24-35

(R) Praise to the Lord, the Almighty, who rules all creation.

<sup>24</sup> O LORD, how manifold are your works!

In wisdom you have made them all;
the earth is full of your creatures.

<sup>25</sup> Yonder is the sea, great and wide,
creeping things innumerable are there,
living things both small and great.

<sup>26</sup> There go the ships,
and Leviathan whom you formed to play in it.

<sup>27</sup> These all look to you,
to give them their food in due season.

<sup>28</sup> When you give to them, they gather it;
when you open your hand, they are filled with good things.

<sup>29</sup> When you hide your face, they are dismayed;
when you take away their breath, they die and return to their dust.

<sup>30</sup> When you send forth your spirit, they are created;
and you renew the face of the ground.

<sup>31</sup> May the glory of the LORD endure for ever,
may the LORD rejoice in his works,

<sup>32</sup> who looks on the earth and it trembles,
who touches the mountains, and they smoke!

<sup>33</sup> I will sing to the LORD as long as I live;
I will sing praise to my God while I have being.

<sup>34</sup> May my meditation be pleasing to the LORD in whom I rejoice.

<sup>35</sup> Let sinners be consumed from the earth, and let the wicked be no more!

Bless the LORD, O my soul!

Praise the LORD!

(R) Praise to the Lord, the Almighty, who rules all creation.

Talking About Serious Mental Health Conditions in the African American Community

A mental health condition refers to a wide range of disorders or illnesses that can affect mood, behavior, feeling, or thinking. Serious mental health conditions are a smaller and more severe subset and can have a substantial impact on 1 or more major life activities. There are many different types of serious mental health conditions, including depression, bipolar disorder, and schizophrenia.<sup>1</sup>

How common are serious mental health conditions?

It is estimated that 1 in 25 adults in the United States experience serious mental illness.<sup>2</sup>

What do I do if I believe that I or my loved one has a serious mental health condition?

Recognize and acknowledge that individuals diagnosed with these diseases can live full, rewarding lives, especially if they seek and follow treatment as needed.

Research using reputable sources to identify the symptoms of mental health conditions and find support and care services.

Reach out to family members, friends, advocacy organizations, or your healthcare professional (HCP) to help build your support network.

Regroup with your HCP to find the right treatment plan and learn about available resources. Talk about your concerns, feelings, and ways to improve your mental health.

Remember, mental health conditions are nothing to be ashamed of. They are medical conditions, like heart disease or diabetes. It's important to speak up, speak out, and actively communicate with an HCP. Finding the right treatment plan can make a difference for you or a loved one living with a mental health condition.

If you or a loved one is in crisis, call 911 as soon as possible. If you or a loved one needs someone to talk to, there is confidential support available 24/7 for everyone in the United States by calling 1-800-273-8255 for the National Suicide Prevention Hotline.

Mayor Lightfoot Calls Out Media For Glaring Lack of Diversity

by Mary Mitchell

Mayor Lori Lightfoot's decision to "exclusively" provide one-on-one interviews to journalists of color ahead of her two-year anniversary set off a firestorm on Twitter, and in the city's newsrooms. "This is beyond disappointing. It's disgusting. We are going backwards in this country on race relations," wrote one commenter. While another person replying to @MaryAnnAhernNBC had a different take: Many whites are throwing fits because of their white privileges [sic] challenged. This is called leveling the playing field, more equity-minded practice. Lightfoot's manifesto, delivered midway through a challenging first term marked by a deadly pandemic, rising homicide rates, at least two questionable police shootings and a dehumanizing police raid, have some accusing Lightfoot of trying to boost her image by taking on a longstanding race-related issue that shocks those unfamiliar with the press corps.

"I have been struck since my first day on the campaign trail back in 2018 by the overwhelming whiteness and maleness of Chicago media outlets, editorial boards, the political press corps, and yes, the City Hall press corps specifically," Lightfoot said in a two-page letter dated May 19 that was sent to the major news outlets in the city to explain her decision to offer Black and Brown journalists a rare interview opportunity. "While there are women of color who sometimes cover my administration, there are zero women of color assigned to the City Hall beat. Zero. I find this unacceptable," the mayor said.

But to be fair, this is not the first time a politician has set aside time to talk specifically to Black journalists in a group about issues concerning Black Chicago. Those concerns are often different from matters raised by white reporters. Lightfoot's predecessor, Rahm Emanuel, often met with the Black press behind closed doors for off-the-record chats. And one of the first groups to meet privately with President Barack Obama during his first term was Black columnists. The small steps toward diversity, however, get harder to maintain as newsrooms shrink and writers of color move on to more lucrative professions. An article posted at niemanlab.org, "The moral argument for diversity in newsrooms is also a business argument ...," written by Nicole A. Childers, cites a 2018 Pew Research Center analysis using 2012-2016 data that shows only 23% of newsroom employees are people of color despite being 40% of the U.S. population.

A 2019 Radio Television Digital News Association survey found that 14.5% of radio employees and 25.9% of local TV news employees are people of color, according to Childers. But of even more concern, "Over the past decade newsroom employment in the U.S. has dropped by a staggering 23%," the writer found.

The lack of diversity is a subject that newsrooms have wrestled with for decades. Lightfoot just dragged it out into the light of day for the public to see. Now it's on newsrooms to deal with. After all, we are purveyors of the truth, and this truth is staring us in the face every day.

Little Known Black History Fact

Roy Hargrove

Roy Hargrove may not have been a mainstream name but in the world of jazz and music period, the virtuosic trumpeter was rightfully regarded as a major talent. Hargrove passed away on November 2, 2018, reportedly from cardiac arrest. Roy Hargrove was 49. Born on October 16, 1969, he was raised primarily in the Dallas, Texas area. As a student at Booker T. Washington School of Performing and Visual Arts, he was discovered by Wynton Marsalis, who visited the school in 1987.

The young player left an impression and the pair formed a bond which led to side gigs for Hargrove with the likes of Bobby Watson and other major players. He also obtained a scholarship to the Berkley College of Music, leaving after 18 months to attend the New School in New York in a move that transformed his career.

At 20, Hargrove released the first of his five albums for the Novus label, Diamond In The Rough, in 1990. He also kept steady work as a sideman beginning in 1988 while continuing to perform studio work for a bevy of jazz notables, including Sonny Rollins. Hargrove was named one of the “Young Lions of Jazz,” a loose collective of young jazz players who played the “Neo-Bop” jazz style.

Hargrove won two Grammy Awards in his career. The first came in 1998 with his Afro-Cuban band Crisol and their album Habana, which won for Best Latin Jazz Album. In 2003, alongside Herbie Hancock and Michael Brecker, Hargrove won the Grammy for Best Instrumental Jazz Album.

Another hallmark of his career was that he served as a vital bridge between the intersecting worlds of jazz, hip-hop and R&B. Hargrove played alongside Erykah Badu, D’Angelo, Common and several others. His RH Factor band melded diverse musical genres as well. Reports say that Hargrove suffered with substance abuse. In 2014, he pled guilty to cocaine possession and was sentenced to two days of community service. Hargrove is survived by his wife, singer Aida Brandes, daughter Kamala Hargrove, his mother Jacklyn Hargrove, and a brother, Brian Hargrove.
